In the first part of the paper, the author discusses the nature of the problem and the various methods which have been suggested for its solution. It is shown that the problem is in fact a special case of a more general one, and that the solution can be obtained by applying the general method. The author then proceeds to show that the solution is in fact unique, and that it is the only one which satisfies the conditions of the problem.

It is then shown that the solution is in fact unique, and that it is the only one which satisfies the conditions of the problem. The author then proceeds to show that the solution is in fact unique, and that it is the only one which satisfies the conditions of the problem. The author then proceeds
 one which satisfies the conditions
 of the problem.

The author then proceeds to show that the solution is in fact unique, and that it is the only one which
 one which satisfies the conditions
 of the problem.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general consideration of the problem. It is shown that the problem is equivalent to the problem of finding the minimum of a certain functional. This is done by introducing a suitable set of coordinates and by using the method of Lagrange multipliers.

2. In the second part of the paper the method of Lagrange multipliers is applied to the problem of finding the minimum of the functional. It is shown that the minimum is attained at a point where the gradient of the functional is zero and the constraints are satisfied.

3. The third part of the paper is devoted to a numerical solution of the problem.
 The method of steepest descent is used to find the minimum of the functional.
 It is shown that the method converges rapidly to the minimum.

4. In the fourth part of the paper the method of steepest descent is applied to the problem of finding the minimum of the functional. It is shown that the method converges rapidly to the minimum.
 The results of the numerical solution are compared with the results of the analytical solution.
